

Noteworthy Trends: March 30 to April 6

ForecastOS Hivemind continuously processes content from top media sources. Using advanced AI, Hivemind identifies, tracks, and analyzes emerging trends.

This report presents the ten most noteworthy Hivemind trends from March 30 to April 6, as shown in the table below. We graph these trends over the past decade to show their relative popularity evolution and include recent notable mentions to offer context on current discussion. When applicable, we also provide the number of related companies as determined by Hivemind.

All data in this report is available via the ForecastOS Hivemind UI. Click the free trial button on the bottom right of this page to get access. With access, you can explore our full list of trends and themes, create your own custom trends and themes, and view associated companies for investment ideas and thematic exposure.

10 Noteworthy Hivemind Trends

	Trend ¹	ST Growth ²	LT Growth ³
1	Tariffs, tariff, reciprocal, goods	278%	2,656%
2	Gaza, Israel, Hamas, Israeli	57%	579%
3	Trump, Donald, Trumps, administration	7%	293%
4	Elon, Musk, Musks, Elons	80%	271%
5	AI, generative, artificial, intelligence	28%	275%
6	DOGE, indiscriminate, scarcity, hacking	503%	332%
7	Liberation, 2nd, liberated, day	2,301%	1,349%
8	Greenland, Denmark, Inuit, Greenlands	883%	526%
9	Deportations, deportation, deported, departing	42%	405%
10	Iran, Irans, Iranian, nuclear	54%	177%

¹ Trend titles are systematically generated using the four words that best represent them. Words may be incorrect or misspelled.

² Relative discussion popularity growth over three months.

³ Relative discussion popularity growth over three years.

Charles Reese, CFA

QUANTITATIVE ANALYST

charlie@forecastos.com

+1 236 509 2824

Kai Sackville-Hii

QUANTITATIVE ENGINEER

kai@forecastos.com

+1 778 986 2009

Delay: minutes / hours

Dataset Timeframe: 2015 to present

Trend Insights (March 30 to April 6):

- 371,972 unique trends identified
- 1 in 88 statements were about Donald Trump
- 1 in 103 statements were about tariffs
- 1 in 175 statements were about Elon Musk

ForecastOS does and/or seeks to do business with data and software vendors covered in ForecastOS research. In some cases, ForecastOS owns researched data and software. As such, readers should be aware of possible conflicts of interest that could impact the objectivity of our research. Readers should consider other resources/factors before making any purchasing/implementation decisions.

DO NOT FORWARD: PROTECT YOUR ALPHA

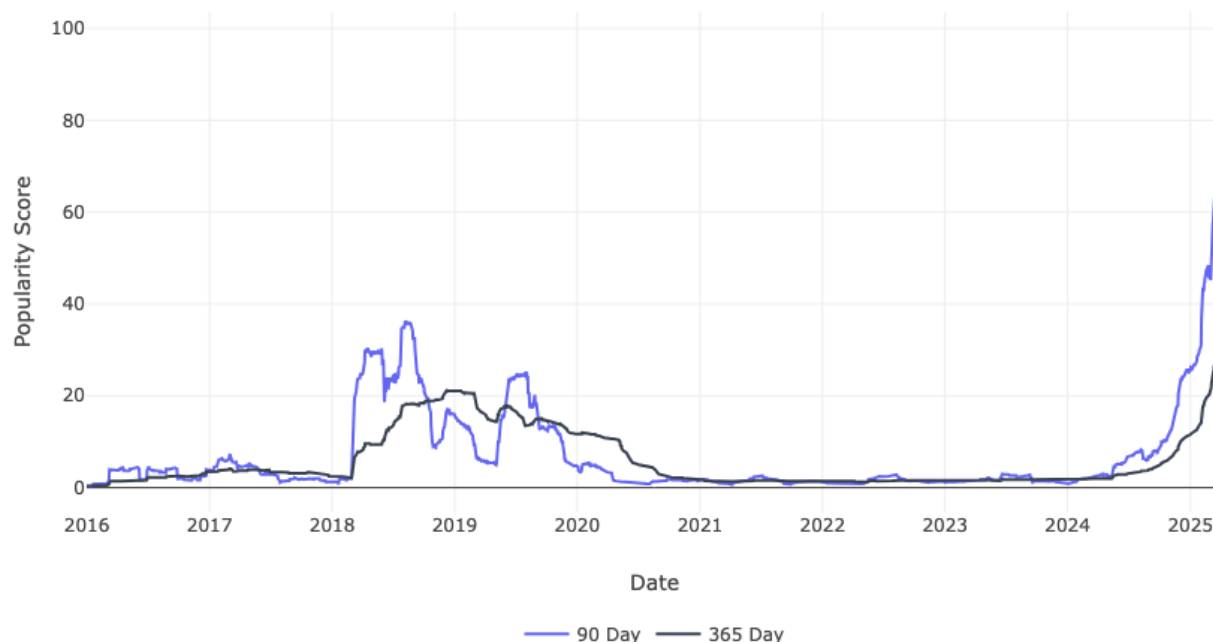

START FREE HIVEMIND TRIAL

Hivemind and underlying data available via ForecastOS. Click above to get access.

1. Tariffs, tariff, reciprocal, goods

Tariffs were the main talking point this week, with particular focus on the announcements made on “Liberation Day.”

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

Recent Mentions²

10 of 22,400 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-06: NPR News Now

Tariffs announced by President Trump on Wednesday have led to major drops on Wall Street. Financial Markets had their worst week since the beginning of the COVID pandemic. Trump adviser Elon Musk says he hopes at least some of the tariffs don't last too long. In the United States should move ideally in my view to a zero tariff situation.

2025-04-05: Rundown

Companies like Apple have been shifting some manufacturing out of China. Now into those countries to avoid tariffs. Like during Trump's first term, Apple began shifting iPad and AirPods productions to Vietnam and some iPhone productions to India. But now even those countries are being hit with tariffs. And there's no way for Apple to avoid them. And this news is especially brutal for apparel companies like Nike and Lulu Lemon, which rely heavily on Vietnam.

2025-04-05: The Joe Rogan Experience

I'm scared of this tariff stuff because it's radical change. I change. Well, let me tell you what I think and I don't know anything. This is all his negotiating. It's going to come down. It's not going to stay like this. The bad thing will be if all the other countries go fuck you America.

2025-04-05: WSJ What's News

It is already shaping out to be a tough month for Wall Street. Some of investors' worst fears came true on Wednesday, and President Trump announced sweeping tariffs. Stocks saw a steep sell-off on Thursday, their worst day since 2020, and things only got worse on Friday after China said it is matching the new 34% tariff on all goods imported from the US. The doubtful more than 2,000 points. Now, investors are worried that Trump's trade policies could break the economy's resilience streak and set it into a recession.

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

² Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

2025-04-05: WSJ What's News

Now, with Trump's tariffs ripping through markets and uncertainty alluming over the AI boom, those stocks are looking worse for where. So how would tariffs affect tech? Companies with international supply chains like Apple and Amazon could face big cost increases. And Metas ad business could take a hit of companies slashed their advertising budgets.

2025-04-04: Hard Fork

Let me ask you about maybe the one funny element of this whole thing, which is the possibly apocryphal idea that these tariffs were vibe-coded in chatGPT or another chatbot. Kevin, where did this idea come from and how plausible do you find it? I'm a little skeptical of the idea that someone in the Trump administration just went to chatGPT and said, hey, how do I impose reciprocal tariffs on other countries and got the answer and just went with it? Like there are economists still working on this stuff. They do have access to better tools and information than chatGPT. But I think it's possible that AI was consulted in some part of this.

2025-04-03: Economist Podcasts

I mean, especially if you go country by country, some of these tariffs, one could make a more or less plausible argument they are negotiating leverage. What's your view of how sticky and how lasting these might be? Well, Trump's address yesterday in the Rose Garden was fascinating because it was very characteristic of President Trump where he kind of went through a litany of grievances. He was in terms aggressive and then quite humorous at times as well, but the underlying message was that he is a man who has believed in the virtue of tariffs for decades and he finally has the ability to act on them.

2025-04-02: The Charlie Kirk Show

When we start talking about reciprocal tariffs, not just tariffs that are one for one. For instance, I use a Japan for this. Japan has zero tariffs on American manufactured vehicles going into Japan. However, you cannot actually buy an American made vehicle in Japan because of their rules. So you know, they have zero tariffs. You cannot find a single dealership in Japan that sells Ford's and Chevy's. But we have Japan vehicles driving all over our country. So what the President's saying reciprocal means not only do you have the same tariff level, but we have the same access to your economy. If you want access to us, we're going to have access to you.

2025-03-31: The Bulwark Podcast

Off the open today, NASDAQs down about 2%, down a little bit, SNP is down about 1%. So the market continues to dip on the idea that Trump is serious about this with the tariffs. He's given no indication. There's a big political story over the weekend that people around him don't really understand what the plan is, but all they do know is that Trump wants to go big. He's serious about it. Those are leaks coming from inside the White House.

2025-03-31: The Ben Shapiro Show

If the Republican Congress wishes not to lose a bunch of seats in the midterm elections, I would highly recommend that if President Trump pushes really high tariffs, over the next couple of days, the Congress started thinking about taking back some of its constitutionally mandated authority over tariff policy. Regardless of what you think of President Trump's policies, no President, Democrat or Republicans should have the unilateral ability to simply increase the prices on goods across the board by 20% on all Americans.

2. Gaza, Israel, Hamas, Israeli

Discussions on the Israel-Gaza conflict this week centered on ongoing protests, U.S.-Israel relations, and allegations of Israeli forces killing aid workers.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

Recent Mentions²

10 of 71,601 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-05: Global News Podcast

Israel has admitted giving an inaccurate account of the killing of 15 emergency workers in Gaza. After a video emerged undermining its claims. The convoy of Palestinian red-crescent ambulances, a UN car, and a fire truck from Gaza's civil defense, came under fire near Rafa just before dawn on 23 March. Israel originally claimed troops opened fire because the convoy approached suspiciously.

2025-04-04: Pod Save America

The Trump administration is now deporting student activists protesting against the genocide and Gaza under the guise of saying that it is combating anti-Semitism.

2025-04-04: The Journal.

They claim that these people are supporters of Hamas in different ways. And this is a battle that they really think they can win because they think most Americans are sick of the college protests that most Americans are more supportive of Israel than they are of Hamas. And so that they're not going to be so upset if they go after an international student who, for example, wrote an op-ed in her school newspaper expressing support for the Palestinian people.

2025-04-03: The Joe Rogan Experience

And at the same time, for the people who are so concerned about the rise of anti-Semitism, you're like, okay, well, it has exploded since Israel's been doing this to Gaza, right? So like, maybe the US shouldn't be funding and arming the whole goddamn conflict. Because that does seem to like at least give those people a giant talking point to latch onto. Maybe we shouldn't have a system where like our political class is not allowed to criticize a foreign government.

2025-04-03: The Ben Shapiro Show

Yesterday, Israel announced zero tariffs on any American goods. And they hit them with a 17% tariff anyway claiming that they had a 33% tariff right on American goods, which clearly is not true. Why? Because it turns out that we buy more stuff from the Israelis than the Israelis buy from them. Shocker, there are smaller countries where a giant market, not a giant shock as it turns out. So this is pretty crazy because it turns out the trade deficit has nothing to do with the tariff rates. So we are punishing countries that have a low tariff rate with us.

2025-04-02: The Headlines

In Gaza, the United Nations says Israeli forces killed 15 rescue workers as they tried to help civilians. It's a rare accusation for the UN to make. The organization has generally been cautious about assigning clear blame.

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

² Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

2025-04-01: PBD Podcast

So, you know, last week, it was something very, very, very unique that happened in Gaza. Do you know what that was? There was a protest against a government in that region from the Palestinians. And who do you think they were protesting against? They were protesting against Hamas.

2025-04-01: The Prof G Pod with Scott Galloway

National Security Advisor Mike Waltz used information that we got from the Israelis. So an ally of ours and an incredibly important one about the missile expert who was heading into his girlfriend's house, which they ended up striking. And the Israelis are apparently very upset about this expressing to the White House that sources and methods were compromised.

2025-04-01: Flightless Bird

Basically, the stance that if you are protesting and you're on the side of the Palestinians, you're somehow you are part of a terrorist organization. That's kind of the, the, the confluence there. But no, there's nothing to be clear. These people are being arrested because they said something in the administration.

2025-03-31: The Megyn Kelly Show

Columbia became the epicenter of nationwide anti-Israel and anti-Semitic protests in the wake of Israel's war on the Hamas terrorist organization. Many Jewish students at Columbia are reporting incidents of harassment on campus, which is unlawful under federal law, saying faculty and staff have done little to nothing to support them.

3. Trump, Donald, Trumps, administration

Conversations about Donald Trump centred on his administration's immigration and tariff policies.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

Recent Mentions¹

10 of 543,468 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-06: The Documentary Podcast

And the recognition by this US administration that America is no longer the world's single dominant power. The Biden administration wanted to prevent it from coming about. I think Trump accepts it, McRubio acknowledges it and we are seeing it happening. In the sense Trump is fast forwarding the future. What does a multi-polar world mean? Well, it means that we are returning to much of human history where there was no one superpower dominating the entire world, the way the US did for a long time after the Second World War.

2025-04-05: DarkHorse Podcast

Trump has been talking about this tariff play for 40 years. That's surprised me. I thought that this tariff play was new. It's not new. And in fact, there's a clip of him on Oprah as a young man back when he was welcomed, you know, in such places, talking about this exact thing.*

2025-04-05: All-In with Chamath, Jason, Sacks & Friedberg

To me there's actually been a fairly wide consensus among the American population for a very long time, what to do about immigration, particularly the Southern border, which is number one, just stop the legal immigration of the Southern border. After Biden blew that out, a lot of Democrats turned to President Trump specifically because of that issue, and that has been the signal success of the Trump administration among all the other successes. The numbers of the border have just plummeted to almost zero. This number is in recorded history, and that is an unmitigated success.

2025-04-05: All-In with Chamath, Jason, Sacks & Friedberg

We are a grievance based economy. We are a rage based economy. And that is we're shifting now. And it's painful from an economy based on people's thoughts and feelings and economy. Now, hopefully based on people manufacturing things and going back to the factory, get back in the factory is what Trump's hoping. He's hoping that people will walk back into the factories and start making stuff made in the USA. People beat their proud. They work with their hands again. They get into it again. They get on that assembly line again. And I don't know. I mean, maybe that happens. I'm skeptical.

2025-04-05: The Ezra Klein Show

The policies don't make sense and they're not going to work and the arguments are contradictory and as you've said a couple of times on Europe, on your sub stack, this is a case where Donald Trump has an intuition. And all these people are coming behind him to try to apply theory to it. But there has been a wider disillusionment with the global trade regime.

2025-04-05: The Glenn Beck Program

And so he said Kevin, when I leave this lunch with you, I'm going at the small business to pay a $256,000 tariff bill that was retroactive. And he said, I still love Trump. I'm still with him. But he said, who do I send that cost to? He said the people who are even smaller businesses very few very small oil and gas wells. And he said, they're going to go out of business. And there's going to be a chain reaction that's very unintended here.

2025-04-05: Part Of The Problem

So we're guaranteeing protection for all these countries and then they'll turn around and tariff our automobiles. Make it harder for Ford or general motors to compete while they're European cars can, it's easier. So that's, that's an outrage. And to the extent that Donald Trump could threaten a tariff against them to get them to bring down their tariffs. Like if he could use that as a kind of bullying tool to bring them to the negotiating table to make everybody lower tariffs, then that's that's a win.

2025-04-04: The Charlie Kirk Show

So President Trump, knowing he has to do tariffs and that people voted to have him do tariffs to re-industrialize the country and... I'm sure jobs. He said, and has decided to do the tough fight first, get it out of the way, shock and awe. Now out of all the tariffs that President Trump has applied, the ones on China are the most bold of them all. The boldest, I should say. You see, the Chinese Communist Party could very well go into an economic depression over this.

2025-04-04: Letters from an American

Countries around the globe are imposing reciprocal tariffs on the U.S. while also negotiating their own trade agreements that cut out the U.S. Those agreements are not only for products like soybeans, but also for weapons. Republican members of Congress could stop Trump at any time. In the case of tariffs, they could simply reassert their constitutional power to manage tariffs. If they choose not to, and the economy doesn't recover and thrive as Trump keeps promising, voters can be expected to hold them as well as him to account.

2025-04-04: WSJ What's News

President Trump signed an executive order today that grants a 75-day extension to reach a deal to operate TikTok in the U.S. Based a Saturday deadline to act, having previously suspended enforcement of a 2024 law, calling for TikTok to be sold or shut down in the U.S. On Wednesday, Trump reviewed a proposal in which roughly a dozen potential investors, including cloud computing company Oracle, private equity firms, blackstone and silver lake, and venture capital firm and recent horoids, could take an ownership stake in an American operated TikTok.*

4. Elon, Musk, Musks, Elons

Mentions of Elon Musk revolved around his involvement with DOGE, protests against Tesla, and speculation about his potential departure from the Trump administration.

¹ Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

Recent Mentions²

10 of 54,889 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-06: Pod Save America

Elon Musk is not as stupid as Donald Trump, and he's done real things at his life. He is genuine mastery in his life, and yet he has now spent months going inside of the government and seems to have learned nothing about it.

2025-04-05: The Charlie Kirk Show

We should use Elon Musk as an example of how elites should act that sacrifice and fight for other people that makes sense because the other was okay if he was just sitting on his yacht in Venice we'd hate him to oh he's doing nothing no he's actually got skin in the game he's like he's fighting every day.

2025-04-03: UNBIASED

Wednesday, the White House responded to a political article titled Trump tells the inner circle that Musk will leave soon. Elon Musk was brought on as a special government employee, which is defined as an employee expected to work no more than 130 days in a 365 day period. This of course means that Musk's role within the Trump administration as a special government employee is limited to 130 days, which will end at the end of next month. President Trump also said this week that while he thinks Musk is amazing, Musk will have to return to run his own company soon, referring to Tesla.

2025-04-03: The Joe Rogan Experience

Now they're saying Elon Musk is going to be stepping away from doge soon and and yes it's true that doge didn't actually get any drastic cuts through but it is amazing what they have done in terms of like bringing to the cultural forefront the issue of how corrupt government is.

2025-04-03: Morning Brew Daily

Tesla dropped its delivery numbers. Yesterday and they literally dropped. The EV maker reported double digit shrinkage in the first quarter as it faced everything from increased competition to political blowback against Elon Musk... He then offered his advice for how to stop the bleeding. He needs to stop this political firestorm and balance being CEO of Tesla with DOS. Luckily for Tesla investors, it looks like that day may be coming sooner rather than later.

2025-04-02: Make Your Damn Bed

This Saturday, a series of coordinated protests are scheduled to take place across the US and internationally. The aim of these demonstrations is to oppose the policies implemented by President Donald Trump's administration. But also, specifically, to protest Elon Musk's involvement in the administration. Organizers are anticipating this to be one of the largest single-day mobilizations since the beginning of Trump's second term with over 600 events planned nationwide.

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

² Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

2025-04-01: The Glenn Beck Program

Who's organizing these protests who's funding these protests who gains power or influence if Tesla's brand is damaged if Musk is silenced or if the public believes the world is against him. Because regular people do not throw together rallies on a Saturday across the border across the ocean to protest over American federal Staffing decisions.

2025-04-01: The Daily

On paper, today's election in Wisconsin is about whether Democrats or Republicans should control the state's highest court. In reality, it's become a referendum on Elon Musk, his agenda in Washington, and his willingness to flood American politics with his money.

2025-04-01: The Vergecast

These protests, they started, um, I guess you could say two months ago early February. I think it's when we started seeing some of the first ones, people sort of sort of showing up outside to Tesla, uh, showrooms and charging stations, uh, and, uh, registering their opposition to Elon Musk into doge into the sort of ransacking of the federal government, uh, they grew, uh, over time. And we started to see larger and larger crowds in cities all across, uh, the country. And, uh, and then eventually they decided they needed to get organized.

2025-03-28: The Bulwark Podcast

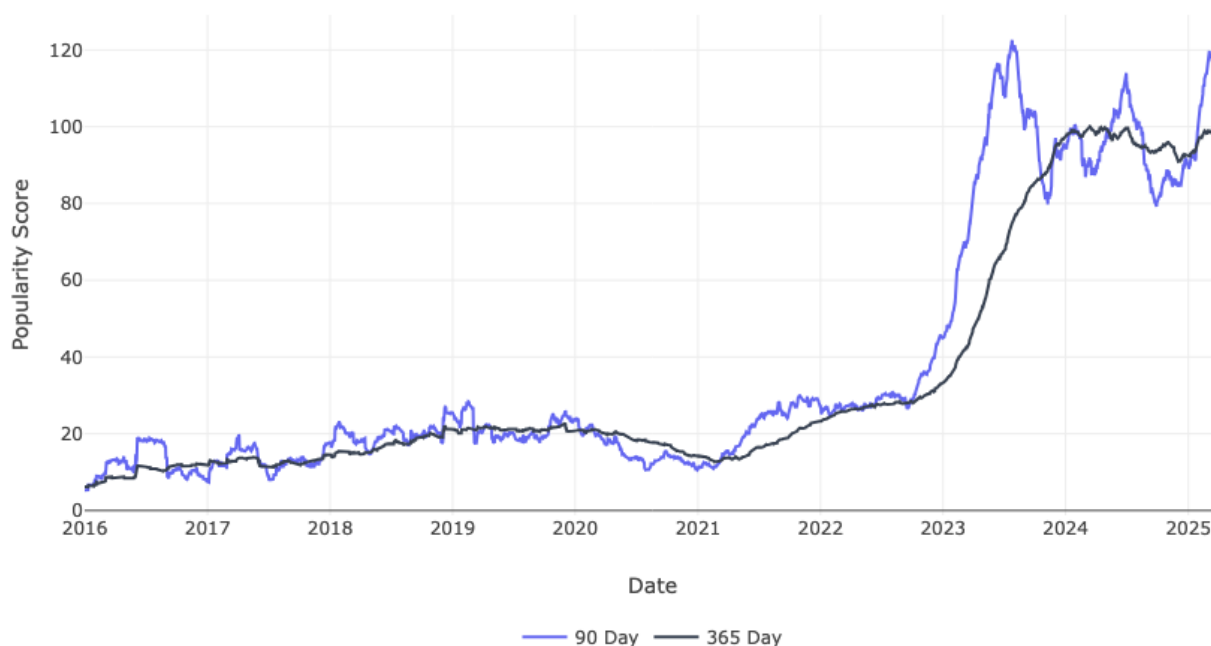

And I feel bad for people who bought Teslas before in the before times, like that, that does stink, but let everything after 2024 sit. I mean, that's been very effective so far. And so I guess there are protests happening Saturday, Tesla take downs. I think that's really getting inside Elon's head. And if you want to talk about the terrorism aspect of this, there was somebody that drove into one of those protests in Florida, not so long ago.

5. AI, generative, artificial, intelligence

526 related companies in Hivemind.

Commentators discussed AI's impact on the U.S. economy and recent advancements, including a new release from OpenAI.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

Recent Mentions¹

10 of 110,311 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-05: DarkHorse Podcast

o up. So it will be taking it in domestically as the tariffs drop. And why are the tariffs dropping? Because we're making it here. It's dropping. So you've obviously thought this through. You think that the United States has the necessary labor force for this transition? I think we do. I think with AI, with automation, with so many of these factories are going to be new. They're going to be smart factories that I think we've got all the labor force we need.

2025-04-05: The Rundown

Apple recently announced plans to invest a whopping $500 billion in the US over the next four years, including building a new factory in my hometown of Houston, Texas. Apple is also doubling their U.S. advanced manufacturing fund and the ramping up investments in AI and silicon engineering. So they're betting big that this might help them secure another round of tariff exemptions. The reality is, Apple won't ever be able to move all of their manufacturing to the U.S. And at the end of the day, it just might come down to Tim Cook's ability to charm his way out of Trump's tariff.

2025-04-04: Better Offline

I feel like we're approaching a choke point in the whole generation of AI bubble. The combination of over a year of different narratives and pressures that I believe will lead to an ultimate collapse. Last week, open AI released an image generator with GPT40, which quickly gained massive attention for its ability to create images in the style of famed Japanese animation company.

2025-04-02: Morning Brew Daily

If you think you have no game when it comes to relationships, maybe you need to try out Tinder's new game called the game. It's a free in-app voice-based role-playing simulation that coaxes users along as they flirt with an AI-powered chatbot. The idea is to boost user engagement and hopefully teach people to avoid starting off correspondences with, hey, anymore. It's still a proof of concept in as much a marketing stunt as it is, a useful training aid. But still, the romantic scenarios the game puts users through is powered by OpenAI.

2025-04-01: The Pat McAfee Show

I the problem is like, yeah, you just mentioned like school and humans and stuff like AI will become so good at it. Like people won't actually learn anything. So in people, we'll start to get much dumber and then the AI is going to talk about any at all. I'm just saying, look, I'm just saying, look, the AI put that class together for him.

2025-04-05: All-In with Chamath, Jason, Sacks & Friedberg

And right now, AI is not a blind alley, but we also don't know exactly which way AI is going to develop in the most profitable way. I mean, the amount of money that's been poured into AI has not yet been justified by the amount of the unreturn on the intellectual investment, obviously.

2025-04-04: Waveform: The MKBHD Podcast

So you guys might have seen over the weekend there was a big thing that happened where everybody started making themselves gubleified because open AI released their image generation model that is built into chat GPT that is much more realistic and way better. It's that 40 model. So it's the deep thinking model. And it just kind of caught fire that people started making themselves into a studio Ghibli kind of character.

2025-04-03: Monday Morning Podcast

You know, that douchebag Bill Gates was on some talk show the other night and he goes, you know, five years, you know, there's gonna be no more teachers. It's all gonna be AI. And I just wish the host went, like, oh, really? Is that what you decided? You just decided that on your own? You're nerd. Like, what are you guys?

2025-04-01: The Rest Is Politics: US

Next big push is going to be in AI so far. Why does everybody point to the United States and say, look, where are the big AI companies? They have come out of America. We know now there's one also come out of China. It looks like, too. But it's because of the kind of thing that we've been talking about, the amount of research money and dollars that has gone into keeping America ahead of the game.

2025-04-01: Pivot

If you've been online this week, you've probably seen an unending flood of those beautiful animated Studio Ghibli style images of everything from happy families being together to beloved cartoon characters committing unspeakable acts of violence against each other. That, my friends, is the AI world we live in, and it's not going to get less complicated.

6. DOGE, indiscriminate, scarcity, hacking

Debate on the effectiveness of DOGE continued amid government layoffs impacting the HHS and Department of Education.

¹ Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

Recent Mentions²

10 of 3,974 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-06: Pod Save America

Right now, in just the past couple days, one example, Doge has shut down the research arm of the Department of Education. This is the entity that collects all kinds of data, including data that presumably you would want if you were studying government efficiency because it collects data on what kinds of schooling or effective, what kinds are ineffective.

2025-04-05: All-In with Chamath, Jason, Sacks & Friedberg

And while I love what DOGE is doing, the systemic drivers of our national debt are not actually being touched at this point by DOGE. I mean, it's the means tested welfare programs that are really the systemic long-term drivers of our national debt.

2025-04-04: The NPR Politics Podcast

I think there's not only is there a potential human cost to this, but there is obviously a very real political cost. And again, I think Congress starts to get nervous about these kind of things, because look, Doge and RFK junior are implementing these cuts. But when your meals on wheels stop showing up and you know, you can't get access to certain services you had before. Who do you call? You call your member of Congress.

2025-04-04: The Ben Shapiro Show

You know I think Doge is a good idea and somebody should try it but they have been quite indiscriminate at hacking away its state capacity.

2025-04-04: NPR News Now

This week, HHS began a dramatic overhaul as part of the doge effort to downsize the federal government. The health agencies are reeling from thousands of fired employees, shuttered labs, and offices across the country.

2025-04-03: PBD Podcast

Elon Musk made that Wisconsin election of a referendum on Doge... Nobody heard the word doge before November of last year.

2025-04-03: REAL AF with Andy Frisella

Elon Musk and President Trump have both publicly stated that Elon will depart from public service as a special government employee when his incredible work at Doge is complete. Which is July 4, 26.

2025-04-03: We Can Do Hard Things

I don't like what Doge is doing. I'm a social security recipient. I'm scared about my social security. I don't want Musk in that business. And so this was a real reputation of Doge and the Trump policy so far.

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

² Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

2025-04-02: Morning Wire

So I think it's fair to say that Democrats are panicking because Doge is working more quickly and effectively than they thought it would. The HHS layoffs bring us to more than 56,000 confirmed cuts according to the New York Times. 75,000 federal workers also took buyouts and more than 170,000 one thousand have been targeted for layoffs.

2025-03-31: The Matt Walsh Show

And so these are 200 protests all because Elon is cutting spending with Doge. And of course, simultaneously, the media also insists that Doge isn't really doing anything that there are no real cuts being made, that it's all, you know, it's all a big smoke screen.

7. Liberation, 2nd, liberated, day

On April 2, President Trump announced widespread tariffs, calling the day "Liberation Day." Commentators analyzed the potential impacts of these new policies.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

Recent Mentions²

10 of 270 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-05: Wait Wait... Don't Tell Me!

The next day, Thursday, the Wall Street Journal actually ran out of words for how badly the stock market was tanking. It was like dow plunges. S&P 500 crumbles. The NASDAQ gets its junk stuck in a zipper. I'm sure you guys celebrated Liberation Day in the manner of your own families and customs, right?

2025-04-05: The President's Daily Brief

A number of people are acting shocked at, you know, what the announcement was on liberation day. By the way, I don't know if liberation day is going to be an official government holiday. But I think, you know, there was this shock, right? From from at least inside the U.S., I think there was less surprise from from the global players.

2025-04-05: The Glenn Beck Program

I think he called it liberation day to harken back to World War II. Because that's when all this crap started. All the things that were happening, you know, that are not working now started after liberation day. And so now it's kind of like a liberation day away from all the things that had to be done back then, but no longer work.

2025-04-04: Morning Brew Daily

Liberation day was more like liquidation day as stocks plunged to their worst trading session since 2020.

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

² Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

2025-04-04: The Journal.

How was your liberation day? Oh my gosh. So, you know, we all put on our fancy hats. We went to the ticker tape parade. And we blew things up, for example, the global economy. Right. That's what the fireworks were. Investors heads exploding over this news.

2025-04-04: BG2Pod with Brad Gerstner and Bill Gurley

And the question today was, was liberation day a clearing event? Does everybody have clarity now? And I think your point you make is a great one. Even though they may have gotten an exemption or they may not have an exemption, the question is, can I count on this? And how long can I count on this?

2025-04-03: The Michael Knowles Show

President Trump announced his liberation day, tariffs yesterday, and no one. I mean no one expected the magnitude of tariffs that we saw. You're going to hear a lot of puffed up financial analysts and political pundits tell you that they know exactly what the tariffs mean today. And they are full of it.

2025-04-03: Morning Brew Daily

I went to Liberation Day, and all I got was this global trade war. In a speech at the Rose Garden yesterday afternoon, President Trump took a stick of dynamite to the longstanding global economic system centered on free trade. He announced a minimum 10% tariff on all exports to the United States, plus much higher reciprocal tariffs.

2025-04-03: Economist Podcasts

Even before liberation day, the odds that economists were putting on a recession were rising. So economists at Goldman Sachs were saying that the chances of a recession this year are about 30%. I think those probabilities are going to start rising now.

2025-04-03: The Daily

So, we're still waiting to see how many other countries will respond. But a lot of them have threatened to retaliate. So, we had been expecting Wednesday to be liberation day, but Thursday to be retaliation day.

8. Greenland, Denmark, Inuit, Greenlands

A recent visit by a high-level U.S. delegation to Greenland sparked discussions on the Trump administration's territorial ambitions.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

Recent Mentions¹

10 of 4,026 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-06: The Documentary Podcast

I think President Trump is very serious about Greenland. It would be in America's interest security interests. And it would be a significant improvement of the lives of the people of Greenland to form some type of association. Not as a state, maybe some type of treaty, a free association, which has been done with certain territories in the Pacific Ocean.

2025-04-03: The Prof G Pod with Scott Galloway

He has also said he would use the military to carry out mass deportations into quote protests. He even refused to rule out using the military to take control of Greenland and the Panama Canal.

2025-04-01: The Bulwark Podcast

In a world where we are threatening the sovereignty and territorial integrity of our northern neighbor in Canada and Denmark and Greenland, there is no question that the Europeans and others have to look at this in their own interests and recognize that as Mark Carney, the Prime Minister of Canada said, we're not in the same relationship that we used to be. This is a very different world.

2025-04-01: Pod Save America

And he was sort of, he like, he had like a little Zelensky outfit on kind of. Yeah. And that, but the creepiest thing that he said because someone, someone asked him a question, like, what, what are you doing saying that we're going to, you're going to take over Greenland, like, what's going on? And he goes, we can't just ignore the president's desires. So just like creepy and weird.

2025-03-31: The Headlines

Over the weekend, the Trump administration also doubled down on its insistence that the U.S. will take control of Greenland. Vice President JD Vance made a three hour long visit to the island. A U.S. delegation was originally supposed to take a much longer trip that would have included stops at cultural sites and a dog sled. But that was scrapped after local residents said they plan to protest.

2025-04-04: Letters from an American

...decided to create a system of international institutions like the United NATO to provide ways in which countries could protect their sovereignty and work out their differences without going to war. Trump's threats against other countries, including Greenland, an autonomous territory of NATO ally Denmark, are a direct rejection of those principles.

2025-04-03: The Rest Is Politics

It becomes more serious when he says it again and again, becomes even more serious when Denmark, the Greenland's part of Denmark, says, they don't want the US vice president to visit. And he visits anyway with Waltz, the National Security Advisor, and then gives the speech attacking Denmark on Danish soil. And begins to lay out basically the arguments for annexation.

2025-04-01: The Daily Show: Ears Edition

But you have a guy like JD Vance goes to Greenland and shits on Denmark. Like Denmark lost as many people per capita in those wars as we did. Like they talk about Denmark it's not defending Greenland enough and we'll do it. But aren't we doing it already? They're in NATO. So I guess my point is that stable world order hasn't mistreated the United States.

2025-03-31: The Ben Shapiro Show

Greenland has like 50,000 people. If the Greenlanders wish to join the United States, they could hold the referendum tomorrow and join the United States. They made clear they don't actually wish to join the United States. The United States does have serious national interests in Greenland because of the Arctic channels that flow around Greenland that are now being victimized and used as bases in some ways by the Russians and the Chinese. However, slamming Denmark, like this part, I don't really understand.

2025-03-31: Plain English with Derek Thompson

Meanwhile the administration is challenging Europe to increase its defense spending, grow on a separate track entirely making noises about annexing Canada and Greenland. What are we doing here? What sort of a world is that on Trump and the White House trying to build? What sort of a global economic order are they trying to fashion? America's power in the 2020s to try to return us to the industrial economy of the 1950s.

9. Deportations, deportation, deported, deporting

Dialogue about deportation focused on President Trump's immigration policies, including recent high-profile deportation cases, legal battles, and ongoing controversies surrounding the treatment of migrants.

¹ Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

Recent Mentions²

10 of 10,612 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-06: Consider This from NPR

There's also alternatives to detention, such as wearing an ankle monitor or having regular check-ins with the government. Seems like an incredibly lengthy process. Perhaps a rather costly process as well. And yet it is something that President Trump campaigned on. He promised to bring about the largest deportation in American history. So how is what he promised during the campaign actually unfolding in these first few months? There continues to be a big focus on deportations and arrests. But there's still a resource issue.

2025-04-04: The Megyn Kelly Show

The order accuses the gang of operating inconjunction with the Maduro regime of Venezuela to destabilize the U.S. Five Venezuelan nationals sued the Trump administration to prevent their deportation under the act. Chief Judge of the DC Circuit Court, James Boseberg, originally blocked the deportation of those five Venezuelans, then verbally expanded his order to include all deportees facing removal under the act. The written order halting the wider removal of aliens did not come until more than an hour later. By that time two planes carrying more than 100 suspected gang members had already departed.

2025-04-04: The Journal.

And it's hard to say what we would expect the beginnings of a mass deportation to even look like. But I seriously doubt that this is it. I mean, in the first six weeks or so of the Trump administration, deportations are actually down from the last year of the Biden administration. That's not a statistic that they want anyone to know.

2025-04-03: UNBIASED

Once he was removed, his lawyers filed a temporary restraining order on his behalf and asked that the court returned him to the States. In response to this motion, the Department of Homeland Security filed its response, which, in part, explains that in administrative error led to his deportation despite ICE being aware that he was protected from removal.

2025-04-03: The Charlie Kirk Show

Well, I mean, first off, the Trump administration deserves enormous credit for reducing legal crossings by 95% year over year. I mean, it's, we take it for granted. It's an enormous accomplishment. They did it in two months credit to them. You know, so we'll start there in terms of executing on this deportation.

2025-04-03: We Can Do Hard Things

He had to call his wife to come take his child who is an American citizen. The wife and child are Americans. Yes, child and wife are Americans. And this man had a protected status in America. He had previously years prior gone before immigration judge who said you are protected from deportation because of the risk of gang violence if you are sent home. Basically also to El Salvador, even if you were deported, you may not be deported to El Salvador. Despite all that, these ice agents surround him and he has now been taken to that torture prison in El Salvador.

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

² Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

2025-04-02: The Ben Shapiro Show

Controversy continues over President Trump's immigration plans. Trump can't stop and will not stop with regard to the deportation. According to the Washington Post, the Trump administration has transferred 17 alleged gang members to El Salvador. The second such removal into weeks as the President pushes forward with his plan to send migrants to notorious jail in Central America.

2025-04-01: Breaking Points with Krystal and Saagar

It is not just hundreds of students at this point who have been flagged for deportation, some of which have gotten the same mass response, flown down to Louisiana or transferred to Texas, etc. As we said before, it does not stop with the students either. Or with the students. They are talking about that. That has implications in terms of criminalizing anyone who participates in those protests.

2025-04-01: NPR News Now

Secretary of State Marco Rubio said the government sent 17 violent criminals to El Salvador. He claimed their members of the Dren de Ragoa and MS-13 gangs. Some of their families have denied their in gangs. A federal judge temporarily blocked more deportations under that law.

2025-03-29: The Joe Rogan Experience

...was wrongly detained as a gang member and deported to El Salvador. A case becoming a flashpoint in the debate over the Trump administration's deportation of hundreds of migrants to an notoriously inhumane El Salvador mega prison. So, again, this is, it's hard to know. What's real and what's not real, but if it is real, this is fucking horrible. But if you think about it, Joe, like I say, if you're rounding up hundreds of people, mistakes are going to be made.

10. Iran, Irans, Iranian, nuclear

Trump's recent remarks on Iran have revived discussions about the U.S.-Iran relationship, particularly in light of concerns over Iran's nuclear program.

Relative Popularity Evolution¹

¹ Popularity score is based on the relative discussion frequency of a trend over a 90 / 365-day window.

Recent Mentions¹

10 of 36,744 mentions available in Hivemind.

2025-04-06: The Documentary Podcast

And that's something that President Trump doesn't want to do. He's interested in using military force when necessary. But he doesn't want to go to war for no reason. We can see that right now with Iran. He's made it very clear with Iran. He would like to engage in Iran. He does not want to consider military options. His preference is diplomacy. And I think that's what we saw with North Korea. We'll see it again with other nations during the second term. And he's determined to see that there would be trade that's fair.

2025-04-02: WSJ What's News

Meanwhile, the Pentagon is rapidly expanding its forces in the Middle East as the US military continues airstrikes against Houthis militants in Yemen and looks to put pressure on Iran. In recent days, President Trump has threatened to bomb Iran if not to agree to a deal to roll back its nuclear program. Two officials said the deployments aren't preparation for an imminent attack on Iran but rather to bolster the US campaign in Yemen.

2025-04-01: Breaking Points with Krystal and Saagar

If bomb could have solved this, the Saudis would have solved it, you know, eight years ago. Yeah. So yeah. It's, it's not good because you're setting us up for confrontation. And as he said at the original, he said that we will bomb Iran if they don't make a deal. Well, guess what? They said, yeah, we don't really want to talk to you. Yeah. That was the argument that was basically made in the signal chat if I'm remembering correctly.

2025-04-01: DarkHorse Podcast

...what's going on in Gaza is going to manifest as a need for the United States to sign up in whatever way for a war against Iran. And the point is every step we take in that direction limits our options for actually getting ourselves into the next chapter of history. We have to choose actively.

2025-03-31: UNBIASED

The third in final storyline coming from this NBC interview stems from Trump's comments that he would bomb Iran if they don't accept a new nuclear deal. Later in the day, after this interview came out, Iran's President rejected the attempt for negotiations for a new deal, but left open the possibility of indirect talks.

2025-04-04: The President's Daily Brief

The comments earlier this week, a board Air Force One, speaking to reporters, Trump said that if Iran doesn't return to the negotiating table over its nuclear program, there will be, quote, bombing the likes of which they have never seen before and quote. The threats to bomb Iran's nuclear energy infrastructure would inevitably lead to far reaching and irreversible consequences and quote.

2025-04-01: The Bulwark Podcast

Well, it's not clear to me the extent to which we're countering Iran. I mean, remember Donald Trump who blew up the Iran nuclear deal under negotiated under President Obama when I was national security advisor and claimed that that would be the way to emphatically prevent Iran from getting a nuclear weapon. That strategy of blowing up the deal and applying so-called maximum pressure has failed directly.

2025-04-01: Part Of The Problem

U.S. intelligence agencies in their annual threat assessment, uh, said that there is no evidence that Iran is trying to build a nuclear weapon.

2025-03-31: The Megyn Kelly Show

These after President Trump addressed Iranian nuclear ambitions from the oval. The things are going to happen to Iran. President Trump now promising a wave of bombings and additional tariffs targeted at Iran if its leaders do not come to the negotiating table.

2025-03-31: The Ben Shapiro Show

The American people know what they are getting from President Trump. And everybody who keeps looking for some sort of secret motivation for there's no secret motivation. He just does the thing. This also happens to be true with regard to Iran. So President Trump, He had to send a letter to the Iranian President saying, would you like to open it negotiations over your nuclear program? If you don't want to open negotiations over your nuclear program, bad stuff is going to happen.

¹ Mention text is AI-transcribed. Some words may be incorrect or misspelled.

Disclaimer

This disclaimer governs all research reports, analysis, and related content produced by ForecastOS Inc. ("the Company"). By accessing and using our research reports, you acknowledge and agree to the terms outlined in this disclaimer.

Business Relationships & Commercial Interests

ForecastOS maintains business relationships with various vendors, companies, and organizations mentioned in our research reports. We actively seek to conduct business with both the subjects of our research and the readers of our reports. Additionally, we commercialize the data sets and software tools used in producing these reports. These commercial relationships may influence our analysis and perspectives, though we strive to maintain analytical integrity in our research process.

Methodology and Limitations

While we employ rigorous research methodologies and rely on data-driven analysis, our reports may contain errors, omissions, or inaccuracies. The research and conclusions presented are based on information available at the time of publication and represent our best interpretation of our data and tools. However, market conditions, technological developments, and other factors can rapidly change, potentially affecting the validity of our findings.

No Warranty or Guarantee

The information contained in our research reports is provided "as is" without any warranties, express or implied. ForecastOS does not guarantee the accuracy, completeness, or reliability of any information presented. We do not accept liability for any direct, indirect, incidental, or consequential damages arising from the use of our research reports or the information contained within them.

Independent Verification

Readers are strongly encouraged to:

- Conduct their own due diligence and independent research
- Verify all claims, statistics, and assertions independently
- Consider multiple information sources before making business or purchasing decisions
- Consult with qualified professionals when necessary

Research Integrity

While we do not warrant the absolute accuracy of our findings, we are committed to:

- Basing our analysis on quantitative methods where possible
- Following established research methodologies
- Maintaining a sensible level of transparency about our data sources and analytical methods

Final Decision-Making

The ultimate responsibility for any business, investment, or strategic decisions rests solely with the reader. Our research reports should be considered one of many tools in your decision-making process, not as definitive guidance or professional advice.

© 2025 ForecastOS Inc. All rights reserved.